

Buy.Spend.Take.

VERSE_ ONE

Growing up I was told I was nothing
Maybe someday
If I worked hard I'd grow up to be something
Maybe someone
Strike it lucky I'd be known as an important
Make everyone say
"That child there sure did the damn thing"
Tell that youngling, "Look up to that one there!"

CHORUS_

Only ever taught me how to buy buy buy
Only ever taught me how to spend spend spend
Only ever raised me up to take take take Got me so Messed up!
Now I'm trying to buy time so I can spend time on those that take time out for me.

VERSE_ TWO

Went to college with the very best minds
You could find
Prodigies in my presence
Still I couldn't help but second guess mine
Borderline
Probably right on the fence
They couldn't wait to graduate in record time
Just so their lives finally could commence
Me, the day I graduated signified
Corporate jail time; liberation from these loans is expensive

CHORUS_

VERSE_ THREE

Whooh! Wait
You're trying to tell me that all along I been merely existing While others there have been living in up invariably Being who they're prepared to be fearlessly
Who they dare to be, very free!
Whooh!
All of this seems unfair to me
Should have told me at birth

I was already worth everything that this earth could offer
That I was first in line and not the furthest
Shinning, not a blur
Divine and not the worst
Everything!
The main course, wine and the dessert
Tie, jacket & shirt
Melodies, beats, words lines all in a verse!
Instead I'm out here buying out of my purse
Trying to fill a hole up inside of me
It hurts
I'm thinking I'm cursed...

uhhh!
Sick bwoi...
